The “All-In” Policy

Current NRMP Policy

“Some In, Some Out”

- If any of an institution’s programs participates in the Main Residency Match, all of the institution’s programs must offer positions to U.S. seniors through a match.
- U.S. seniors cannot withdraw themselves from the Match.
- Independent applicants can be offered positions through the Match or outside it, and can withdraw themselves.
- By January 31, programs must decide how many positions will be in the Match.

Positions Outside the Match Methodology

- Combined data from NRMP DW and GMETrack for residents entering GME in 2008

- Cohort included 28,633 persons:
 - ✓ 24,474 in 1st residency in 2008 in an NRMP specialty
 - ✓ 4,159 in a new residency after 1 year in a different program

- “Outside the Match” defined as:
 - ✓ Not registered for the Match
 - ✓ No certified ROL
 - ✓ Withdrawn for “Non-NRMP Position”
 - ✓ Withdrawn for “Applicant’s Request”

Positions Outside the Match

Key Findings

More than one-third of GME programs in NRMP specialties filled at least 1 position outside the Match.

One of every 7 residents found positions outside the Match.

States with the largest percentages of programs taking applicants outside the Match: AL, WY, RI, NY, NJ, PA, Puerto Rico.

Specialties in which at least 40% of programs took applicants outside the Match: AN, FM, IM, NM, PTH, PD, PSY.

New NRMP Policy

“All-In Programs”

- Beginning with the 2013 Main Residency Match, any program that participates in the Match must register and attempt to fill all of its positions through the Match.
- Programs must place all positions in the Match or no positions in the Match.

Possible Exceptions

- “accelerated” programs, e.g. Family Medicine
- rural scholars programs
- combined clinical-research programs where the first year is not clinical
- IMGs with funding from their home countries
- programs in rural and geographically underserved areas
- resident transfers to a different program in the same specialty
- mid-career specialty changes
- off-cycle residents, where training does not begin in July
- dually-accredited programs
- positions created for partially matched applicants
